Germans Launch Counter Attack South Of Kharkov, But Are Repelled

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—The mighty summer offensive of the Red army reached a new crescendo today as Soviet forces swept on in the Ukraine following recapture of Sevsk, 80 miles south of Bryansk, and Kotelva, 63 miles west of Kharkov.

Sevsk and Kotelva fell, along with numerous other inhabited localities, in two of the fiercest battles of the summer campaign, when determined Russian tanks and infantry forces broke through strong German defenses on two sectors of the Ukraine front.

The Soviet midnight communiqué revealed that 5,000 Nazis had been slain in the fighting for Sevsk, while 3,000 more were killed in the advance west and southwest of Kharkov.

Meanwhile, Russian airmen carried out heavy raids on enemy airbases, military trains and concentrations of troops, tanks and motor vehicles without the loss of a single plane, according to a resume of aerial activity.

Farthest Point
Sevsk represents the farthest point of the Russian advance in the northern Ukraine. It is only 17 miles from the vitally important Bryansk-Konotop-Kiev railroad. It was also the farthest western point reached by the Soviets in their winter offensive in that area, but the Nazis retook the town early in the spring.

Russians infantrymen seized Sevsk in a frontal and flanking three-pronged assault behind a savage aerial and artillery bombardment. Shock troops cracked through powerful enemy defenses north and south of the city, while a third Russian force moved in from the east.

Tonsil operations, mostly on prospective first graders, at the rate of nearly 100 a week have been performed during the past several weeks in the city's hospitals. Total hospital tonsectomies for the past week was 84.

This morning was another one of those fall like mornings, a preview of what is to come within the next few weeks. Newsboys, who get out early in the morning, were dressed for the occasion. It was noted. Several had on their winter gloves, one was wearing a stocking cap, crossing the East Washington street bridge.

The wife of one of Pa New's boys was due to spend most of today canning corn. It represented the yield from his victory garden, which will help sell the family larder for next winter.

If you have any extra tomatoes in your garden this summer, better put a little of it into catsup. The stock in local stores is about depleted. Pa New found the other day, when he went out and tried to buy a bottle.

Americans Occupy All New Georgia

Fall Of Bairoko Gives Yanks Control Of Keystone Of Solomons

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Aug. 28.—American jungle fighters on the strategic island of New Georgia, keystone of the Central Solomons, have overcome all "organized resistance" at Bairoko Harbor and have further extended their gains by occupying several more islands nearby. It was announced today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The fall of Bairoko Harbor places all of New Georgia island in American hands.

Simultaneously with the announcement that Japanese organized resistance has ended, General MacArthur's communiqué revealed that several small islands west of Baanga have been occupied by the Yanks. No indication of the number of isles taken was given, nor did the report indicate whether any resistance was encountered by the troops of his command who landed.

After almost two months of bitter fighting American troops completed occupation of the island when they went into the last Jap stronghold at Bairoko Thursday to find it deserted.

The enemy apparently made a last minute evacuation across Kula Gulf to Vila, Jap base on Kolombangara Island.

The Yanks found a number of prepared positions abandoned by the Japanese.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The tangled picture of international politics in the midst of global war, it is believed today, will come under further scrutiny when President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill resume their discussions in Washington some time next week.

The talks would be resumed was announced from the Citadel in Quebec, Canada, scene of the recently completed war strategy conference between the two Allied leaders.

Further, he announced that a speech Churchill was to have delivered on Sunday had been postponed until Tuesday, indicating that the radio address to the British and American people would be made from Washington, rather than from Quebec as originally planned.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Lieut. Gen. Joseph McNarney, army streamliner and air force booster, today was reliably reported to have been named deputy chief of staff to Lord Louis Mountbatten.

It was further learned that Mountbatten asked Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, for the best man to serve as highest-placed American in the southeast Asia command. McNarney was that man.

Announcement of the appointment, it was reported, has been held up pending routine official approval.

At the present time McNarney is deputy chief of staff of the United States Army. The 50-year-old general served on the Roberts board which investigated the Pearl Harbor attack and was responsible for the streamlining of the army last year.

He is a champion of air power and a sponsor of the movement to put younger men in key positions. Gen. McNarney was called upon (Continued On Page Two)

Bricker Offers Five Point Plan

Has Program Designed To Overhaul Chaotic Agricultural Situation

(International News Service)
RAPID CITY, S. D., Aug. 28.—John W. Bricker, governor of Ohio and a likely candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1944, advanced today a five-point program to overhaul what he termed is the nation's chaotic agricultural situation.

A combination of government failings he charged, has brought "the fear of hunger even to the people within this land of plenty."

The solution, Bricker told a Rapid City dinner audience last night, would be:

1. "A complete change of procedure on the part of the centralized but a critical administration in Washington responsible for the confusion of impractical directives hanging as a millstone around the necks of the producers and distributors of food."

2. The removal of "government restrictions that interfere with the law of supply and demand until they discourage all-out production."

3. The formulation of necessary federal directives "by individuals familiar with agriculture" and their administration locally.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 28.—American war-planes maintained their superiority in Italian skies yesterday when they raided a number of important targets while at the same time inflicting another smashing defeat on the enemy air force, an Allied communiqué announced today.

Twenty Axis fighters were shot down in aerial combats, while nine Allied planes were lost.

Medium Allied bombers selected Naples and vicinity as their target, heaping destruction on the much bombed communications and traffic network, while Fortresses reached out 100 miles west of Rome and bombed the Sulmona railway.

Mitchell bombers had a field day as they hammered the Axis air force for a record bag. They shot down 16 enemy planes out of 50 in a dog-fight over the Benevento railroad yards near Naples.

MacArthur Meets Undersecretary

Assistant War Secretary And Party Of Military Heads In New Guinea

By PETER HEMERY
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Aug. 27.—Delayed—Typical New Guinea flying weather greeted Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson and his party today as they swooped through glowing overcast skies to land at the main New Guinea airbase.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commander-in-chief of all Allied forces in the Southwest Pacific, was waiting to greet Patterson at the edge of the runway.

War Veteran
First to step from the plane was Patterson, a World War I veteran, wearing a civilian version of a campaign hat. He shook hands warmly with Gen. MacArthur and then turned to greet the other members of the party.

George C. Kenney, commander of the United States Fifth Air Force, "I told you I'd come out and see you," he said, with a laugh.

Towering Lieut. Gen. William S. Knudsen, the army's chief adviser on production, dwarfed Gen. Kenney as he greeted the air force commander.

Knudsen, Kenney and Maj. Gen. Emnis C. Whitehead, deputy commander of the Fifth Air Force, joshed each other good-naturedly, but the conversation soon became serious.

Earnest Discussion
Long after most of the staff cars drove away the three generals remained in earnest discussion, oblivious of the rain that was starting to fall and the dust from the slipstreams of passing transport planes.

The remainder of the party, were Maj. Gen. Leroy Lutes, director of operations for the services of supply in Washington; Brig. Gen. Boykin Cabell Wright of the international division of the services of supply; Col. Stanley J. Grogan, deputy director of the war department bureau of public relations; Col. Carl D. Silverthorne of the war department general staff; Major Andrew J. Goodwin of the office of the undersecretary of war and Julius H. Amberg, special assistant to the secretary of war.

Invasion Feared On French Coast

Italians Jittery Over Possible Thrust Of Allied Armies

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Jittery Italian army officers now believe the Allies may attempt to land on the French Mediterranean coast in an invasion thrust timed to coincide with a drive into Italy proper, a Swiss newspaper report indicated today.

The Journal De Geneve, in a dispatch reported to the OWI, said that already the Italian occupation officials of southern France have published notices to the public of a new alarm signal system which will be sounded in the event of an Allied landing.

The paper said that the Italians were fearful such an invasion offensive may materialize in that area not only because the Mediterranean coast is "less fortified" than the Atlantic, but also because the Allies would enjoy "the advantage of co-ordinating such bridgeheads with those created in Italy."

In the Franco-Swiss frontier area, the Italians have posted warnings that anyone mocking occupation soldiers will be executed.

Packing Houses Filled With Meat

Cold Storage Space Is "Glutted" With Meats, Vegetables And Other Foods

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—And now there is so much meat, there isn't room to store it.

At least that was the report today.

Government officials and packing house representatives said that cold storage space is "glutted" with meats, vegetables and other perishable foods.

E. D. Pollock, regional administrator for the war food administration, substantiated the report, and added that the great quantities of food stored have created a serious shortage of cold storage space.

Beef and other non-essentials are being crowded out to make room for meats and other foods, Pollock said. One packing official said the government has enough meat in storage to satisfy its needs for 10 months.

The abundance of meats partly was credited to the marketing of cattle before they are fattened in the usual way because of the shortage of feed. Ranchers, it was said, are sending their cattle from the range to slaughterhouses with little if any feed-lot fattening.

Sec. Knox Hints Second Front Due

Knock Germany Out Of War First; "Jap Offensive Long Since Stopped"

(International News Service)
HAMILTON, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Secretary of the Navy Knox strongly hinted today of the opening of second front operations in Europe in the "coming days and weeks and months," and reiterated his disclosure of a year ago that United Nations strategy contemplates knocking Germany out of the war first.

Knox spoke at the navy convocation-college commencement at Colgate University. During the ceremonies, he received the honorary degree doctor of laws, and later reviewed the Colgate navy regiment.

Bulgarian King Said To Have Been Shot In Sofia On Tuesday

(International News Service)
LONDON, Aug. 28.—Dispatches from Berne quoting a reliable source in the Balkans said today that King Boris of Bulgaria had been shot and seriously wounded Tuesday night in Sofia while returning from a visit to Adolf Hitler's field headquarters.

The dispatches were published by the London Evening Standard.

In London well-informed observers pointed out that there have been increasing reports of unrest in Bulgaria with the government's policy of continuing the war. Many Bulgarians are said to be convinced that the Axis can no longer win.

Shot In Abdomen
According to the Standard, Boris was shot in the abdomen three times while entering his car at the railroad station in Sofia after leaving a special train which had brought him back from Germany.

A police officer described as "pro-Russian" was said to be thought responsible for the shooting.

Boris' condition, the Standard added, now is desperate and the queen has been summoned to his bedside.

THIRTY-THREE BOMBERS LOST

Raid Intended To Knock Out Important Industrial Plants Located There

By LEO V. DOLAN
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Aug. 28.—One of the mightiest British aerial armadas of the war poured death and destruction on Germany's second largest industrial city of Nuremberg last night while other RAF planes blasted enemy objectives in the Ruhr and railway targets and airfields in France and the low countries, the air ministry announced today.

Thirty-three bombers were lost.

The air ministry communiqué said:

Heavy Attack
"Last night the Royal Air Force carried out a very heavy attack on Nuremberg. Reports indicate that it was well concentrated. Mosquitoes bombed objectives in the Ruhr, while Mosquitoes, Beaufighters and Hurricanes attacked railway targets and enemy airfields in France and the low countries. Thirty-three of our bombers are missing."

"The German radio, quoting 'authoritative quarters,' said that enemy bomber formations had carried out a heavy raid on Nuremberg Friday night and that at least 60 planes had been shot down."

Following their usual propaganda line, the Nazis claimed that "mainly residential quarters" of the old section of the town had been hit and that some damage was done to buildings. It was admitted that the population had also suffered losses, but no figures were given.

The broadcast added that "some disturbance planes" flew over western Germany and dropped a few bombs.

Nuremberg was last raided on Aug. 10 when the RAF dropped 1,500 long tons of bombs (1,680 American tons) on the hapless city.

Jap Wharf Hit At Hong Kong; Airdrome At Canton Is Target

(International News Service)
CHUNGKING, Aug. 28.—Smashing new attacks by American bombing formations upon Japanese air and sea communications facilities at Canton and Hong Kong were announced today in a communiqué issued at United States Army Air Force headquarters in China.

The raids, carried out yesterday by giant four-motored bombers and lighter two-engine medium units, brought Hong Kong under attack for the second time in 72 hours.

The big Japanese-held wharf at Hong Kong was ripped and torn by high explosive bomb bursts. A number of strategic war plants and two enemy vessels were damaged in the assault.

At Canton the raiders blasted the Tienho airdrome but results of the assault were not announced. All planes returned safely to base.

Boards To Check Non-Fathers List

Draft Boards Ordered To List All Men Available Before "Pre-Pearl Harbor" Dads

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 28.—All draft boards in Pennsylvania will halt classification activities on Sept. 15 for a two-week period during which an inventory will be taken of available manpower.

The inventory was ordered by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national selective service director, to ascertain the number of non-fathers available for military service.

Cease Classifications

All boards will cease classifications at midnight, Sept. 15. The inventory will begin the next morning and must be completed by Sept. 30. The information is to be sent to State Selective Service headquarters.

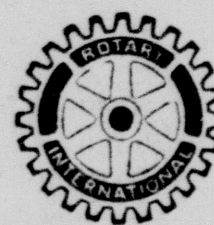

The boards were directed to search their files "to make available for induction every possible registrant who is not occupationally or otherwise deferred before men with group 4 children (pre-Pearl Harbor fathers) are called."

Each board will be required to make thousands of entries on a special form for each registrant consisting of 32 different columns. Boards will study the status and classification of all registrants in their files other than those in the 45-65 years age group.

Future Calls

Directives received by draft boards pointed out that the inventory "will also disclose those cases where registrants have not been reconsidered in accordance with the most recent regulations and those cases in which classification should be reopened and considered anew for any reason. The inventory will provide both state and national headquarters with current information upon which to base the allocation of future calls and the future accounting of classification."

attack will not slacken with the coming days and weeks and months; it will mount with such frenzy that the enemy will not merely reel and totter, but will crumble in final defeat.

The navy secretary declared that, since Pearl Harbor, "the bulk of the navy's fighting sea and air power has been employed in the Pacific theater, and will remain there until Tokyo's final day is done."

While Knox appeared confident of ultimate victory in the eastern as well as western theaters of war, he cautioned the public against any feeling of complacency.

Still Powerful
"Despite their losses," he declared, "the Japanese still have in operation a powerful and efficient fleet, made even stronger by a powerful and efficient naval aviation force. And the fact remains that naval sea-air power will continue to supply the big punch until United States troops have landed on the shores of Japan."

Knox asserted flatly that the Japanese offensive "has long since been stopped, and the Pacific enemy is now concentrating on an effort to hold what he has gained."

As a result of this enemy strategy, he continued, "our fighting units are offering combat much more often than they can find takers. And, indeed, the recent withdrawal from Kiska might well indicate that the Japanese have decided upon a new strategy of hitting only when they are in crushingly superior force, and of retreating when such a move would help to prolong the final coming-to-grips with our attacking forces."

Knox emphasized that the Japanese retreat from Kiska was "by no means a precedent in this war." On the contrary, he asserted, the enemy "retreated in haste in the battle of the Coral Sea, and the Japanese retreat became a broken and battered rout as a result of the battle of Midway."

MIGHTIEST RAF ARMADA ROCKS INDUSTRIAL CITY

southern Germany, the site of 17 aircraft factories.

Last night's attack on Nuremberg was one of the heaviest that has yet been visited upon any Nazi industrial center.

The city is chiefly known as the manufacturing center for finished products, as distinguished from centers of basic war industries.

It is 525 miles from Britain, or only 75 miles short of the distance that must be flown to Berlin.

Nuremberg, which has a normal population of some 500,000, is strategically important both as a manufacturing center of vital war goods and as a transportation hub through which pass many rail lines.

In the western portion of the city there is a large rail repair shop and nearby is one of the most important power stations of the entire area.

At least 17 vital war plants are housed within the city, including the M. A. N. tank and armored vehicle factory, the G. Mueller ball bearing plant and the Siemens Schuckertwerke manufacturing of electric motors and firing devices.

Staff members of the London Bureau of International News Service stood on the roof of their building before dawn and watched the awe-inspiring procession of heavy bombers passing over-head on their way back to their home fields. For nearly an hour and a half the steady roar of motors of the low-flying planes was heard.

There was a widespread radio blackout of Germany this morning and air raid alarms were also sounded in western Switzerland and in France.

According to the Daily Sketch listening post, only Austrian and Czech stations were on the air at 1 a. m., when for several minutes their broadcasts were drowned by a loud buzzing and screaming noise. It was thought possible that the big broadcasting building in Berlin may have been shaken by the detonation of British bombs.

One observer said: Tremendous waves of planes took almost two hours to pass over. I have heard many big raid formations before, but never on this formidable scale."

McNarney, a military career in the infantry but transferred to the air corps within a year. His subsequent work was bound up entirely with the air force until he was appointed to the war plans division of the war department in 1939.

Born In Emporium
The new allied deputy chief of staff in the Pacific area was born in Emporium, Pa., in 1893 and was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1915. His preliminary air force training was received at the signal corps aviation school in San Diego, Calif.

In August, 1917, he was ordered to France where he commanded aerial observation groups in the Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives. For three years McNarney was a member of the war department general staff in the air section, military intelligence division.

In 1939 he was appointed a member of the joint army and navy planning committee and in March, 1942, he became deputy chief of staff of the United States army.

When he assumed his new command McNarney conducted a complete army shake-up which put Gen. H. Arnold in charge of the air force. Air force officers relieved two other division leaders.

railway yards at Caserta near Naples, which was heavily bombed, and drove off another 50 attacking enemy planes.

Flying Fortresses rocked the Sulmona yards with tremendous explosions, outflung two dozen enemy planes and shot down one, while escorting Lightnings bagged three more.

Across The Toe
Light and medium bombers swung across the Italian toe and lambasted Catanzaro, Sibari, Cetraro and Paola, with Army Harv invaders playing a major role in the bombing and strafing of roads and communications.

The preceding night, British Wellington bombers pounded Salerno.

On the whole, it was a most successful day for the Allied Air Force in the skies over Italy. The Sulmona raid lasted only 12 minutes, with the Fortresses precision-dropping tons of high explosives on the target area. Four separate formations of Mitchells, and RAF-manned Boston bombers laced Catanzaro and played havoc with the communication bottleneck there despite heavy flak. Invader pilots reported that the vital Sibari junction was completely destroyed.

The Salerno railroad yards suffered the heaviest blow as British and Canadian Wellingtons covered the target with "a great many" twin blockbusters, starting huge fires and causing terrific explosions.

AMERICANS OCCUPY ALL NEW GEORGIA

Japs, who also left behind large quantities of food, some vehicles and other equipment.

Another Kiska
The Japs fled from Bairoko just as they did from Kiska in the Aleutians.

The island of New Georgia was wrestled by elements of the Twenty-Fifth, Thirty-Seventh and Forty-Third divisions of the Marines with assistance of the United States Navy.

It would seem from this announcement that once again the Japs have chosen to retreat rather than stand and fight to the last man. Apparently the followers of Hirohito have learned that it does not pay to stand and face the wrath of forward-surge Yankee forces.

This latter base also came in for its share of attention. Though, as American ground forces pressed forward on New Georgia, the enemy's unique announcement that enemy base centers and gun positions west of Vila were attacked by United Nations bombers. Torpedo and dive bombers, as well as medium bombing craft, left fires in their wake.

The elimination of the last Japanese stronghold on New Georgia brought the Allies one great step nearer the Japs' great base at Rabaul, New Britain.

Neutralization or capture of Rabaul is considered imperative to moves against the Japanese home islands.

with Welles in the past are quietly shifted to posts of less responsibility.

Welles sent his resignation to the White House last week end while Secretary Hull was with President Roosevelt at the Quebec conference. Then Welles quietly departed for his Bar Harbor, Maine, summer home.

Before leaving Welles sent personal letters to some of his close friends in the Foreign Diplomatic Service in Washington with whom he had been associated for several years, bidding them farewell.

Welles, a man of brilliance and marked ability, may be given another government post by President Roosevelt. It is considered unlikely, however, that he will be given a post in the diplomatic service as roving envoy abroad. Observers here said such an appointment would only serve to continue the same situation that existed in the State Department. That, in effect, would mean a secretary of state in Washington and a secretary of state abroad.

Business Head
In his resignation, Secretary Hull is expected to recommend the appointment of an undersecretary who will devote his energies to the business administration of the State Department and its embassies and legations abroad, leaving the conduct of foreign policy to the president and himself.

George S. Messersmith, now U. S. ambassador to Mexico is mentioned as a leading candidate to fill the Welles vacancy.

Breckenridge Long, now an assistant secretary of state, and Joseph C. Grew, special assistant to the secretary and former ambassador to Tokyo, are also prominently mentioned for the post, as well as Norman Armour, ambassador to Argentina, who is now on leave in this country.

talks dealt almost wholly with military and naval matters—largely hinging around the war in the Pacific and the task to be performed by Vice-Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, Allied command-in-chief of the newly-created southeast Asia theatre of operations.

Washington Handy
Due to the time-consuming discussions on the military phase of the war, it is considered likely that the two men would want to delve deeper into the diplomatic and international political aspects in informal and private meetings.

For this type of conference, Washington would be a much more advantageous location, it is pointed out, as both Britain and the United States have their foreign experts within easy access, while such talks at Quebec would have entailed the summoning of many officials from the United States capital.

Any political discussions between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill, obviously would have as their prime purpose the further exploration of Russia's position in the war and in the peace talks to come.

The skunk may yet win the respect and favor of the public, even if he does it the hard way. The state game commission has classified him as essential to the war effort, for it seems that 1,000 pounds of skunk will yield 500 of grease for nitroglycerine, hence gunpowder.

SCHOOL CAFETERIA DIRECTOR RETURNS
Mrs. Rachel P. Taylor, manager of New Castle public school cafeteria, has returned to her home, 235 East Sheridan avenue, to prepare to take up her work in the schools for the fall term.

During the summer Mrs. Taylor has had a position as dietitian at the Cleveland Girl Scout camp. Her daughters, Verna and Maxine, who spent the summer at the same camp, have also returned home.

Unfortunately you can't keep your flower garden blooming throughout the fall and winter months. Those lovely blooms that have livened the rooms so much will be gone. But you can still keep summer in your home through flowers. Plan to have a few flowers in the living room when the snows come.

WASTED BILLIONS

There ought to be considerable national curiosity about the statement of Senator Aiken of Vermont, a member of the Senate Committee on Executive Department Expenditures, who places the probable wastage in government expenditures, both war and otherwise, at $21,000,000,000 a year.

This startling figure—$200 for each man, woman and child in the United States—represents, according to the Senator, not only extravagance but shameless waste. Obviously, if an amount that large is being used inefficiently by the federal government, there is no valid reason why a new tax bill should have to be drafted by Congress this fall.

Senator Harry F. Byrd, chairman of the executive expenditures committee, has noted instances of considerable extravagance in the past, as have others. But never before has the estimate of wastage been placed at so high a figure.

The Vermont Senator is right in charging that the government offices are over-stuffed. The best figures obtainable now place the number of federal employees at 3,100,000, excluding the Army and Navy. With good management it ought to be possible to cut that number at least in half. The nation ran the First World War on less than a third the number of persons now on the federal payroll, and nobody then accused the Wilson administration of practicing economy. Granted that this is a bigger war, it is not that much bigger.

But the main point is not the salaries of all those needless pay-rollers, although their total is a nice piece of change. It should be remembered that all those persons are as busy as can be spending Treasury money for something. And most of the time it is for something that the country could do without and thereby experience no acute discomfort. If Senator Aiken can prove his $21,000,000,000 figure, Congress will have plenty of work on when it reconvenes.

MAN WITH HOE: KEEP ON

There may be roses and rhododendrons in what were once known as Victory Gardens before many years roll around, but the wise home owner who believes in taking the advice of experts on the world food situation will still be planting beans and tomatoes for a year or two after the end of the war.

That the normal food supply of this country will have to be spread thinly after hostilities end is shown by the estimates of the food requirements of Europe in that period.

Dr. L. V. Burton, editor of the national magazine, Food Industries, sees a demand for 4,500,000 to 10,000,000 tons of food a year from Europe as one of the results of the invasion and the freeing of the continent.

Fortunately, the demand will decrease as farming land in the occupied nations is brought into full and efficient production. Seed grains and vegetables, it is held, must accompany the food, but if food is not sent along with the seed, the seed will be eaten.

The Victory Gardener is brought into the picture through the food industry men's prediction that this country's normal 100,000,000 tons of food would have to be expanded or spread thinner to take care of at least part of the European demand.

Thus the wise Victory Gardener will not lay down the spade and hoe as soon as the factory whistles announce the dawn of peace. He will prepare for a year or two more horticultural activity. And next winter he will study agriculture and the seed catalog with more eagerness than before in order to assure a bountiful harvest.

CHENNAULT'S WAND

Chennault is a name to conjure with in China. Chennault is the name which probably more than any other served to uphold United States prestige in China when the United States—and China—needed it most.

Chennault and his Flying Tigers were battling the Chinese in China long before the United States got into the war. They were China's only protection against Japanese air attack and they did their job in superlative fashion against tremendous odds.

Now Chennault and his Fourteenth U. S. Air Force are the major Allied weapon in China against the Japanese air force. Each successive engagement adds to their laurels. A few days ago they shot down or damaged 52 enemy planes over Hankow and downed eight more when the Japs raided Chungking for the first time in almost two years.

The Jap bombers were forced to unload their bombs six miles from the Chinese provincial capital. But the fact that it was made in considerable force is taken to mean that it marks the beginning of a Japanese attempt to regain control of the air over China from Chennault and his men.

That is something the Allies cannot afford to permit. Control of the Chinese skies is essential as support to the Chinese armies and as the basis of future moves against Japan itself. Chennault is a name to conjure with in China, but Chennault himself must have something to conjure with—planes, crews, ammunition, bombs and fuel. Indications that he is going to get them in increasing strength are an important part of the war picture in the Far East.

The Parent Problem

EDUCATION NOW, REWARDS LATER

With so many bright, deserving youths yearning to go to college but, because of economic limitations, denied this privilege, it is distressing to observe so many young persons passing up the opportunity for more education just for want of ambition. Considering the work to be done after the war we need to have as many young people as possible acquire as much education as they are reasonably able to now. Girls, especially, should feel a patriotic duty to go to college if they can. Here is a letter on the topic.

"Dear Dr. Myers: Should a young girl who likes secretarial work and has accomplished the fundamentals of shorthand and typing, go to college? I have an opportunity to attend but really prefer taking a secretarial position. Isn't happiness and learning to live with people much more important than education?"

"The people I associate with do not, and have no intention of, going to college. I would like to be happy like them and would not want to risk losing their friendship. A self-addressed stamped envelope is enclosed."

The Doctor's Answer
I should hesitate to say you should go to college if you have had your heart set on doing secretarial work. But looking for immediate happiness and doing just what your high school friends plan to do are hardly very intelligent reasons for passing up college.

You say you would like to be happy like your present associates and not lose their friendship. Do you mean you wish to avoid the long years of work at college without a pay check with which you could buy certain immediate pleasures and luxuries? Is this your notion of happiness. Just why do you suppose you would risk losing these friends were you to go to college?

I know a certain young mother who once talked as you write. None of her close associates in high school planned to go to college and she told her parents she would far rather get a job as they were doing. Well, she graduated from college four years later, at which time she informed her parents she was more grateful to them than she could tell that they didn't listen to her "foolish arguments."

Kept Old Friends
During her college days and since, this young woman has kept in close touch with these old associates and occasionally they have visited in one another's homes. Of course, it does require a high quality of personality and character for one who goes on to get more education, winning new friends of higher cultural tastes, to remain able to be a gracious friend to old associates who have not continued their formal education.

I am assuming that you have college mentality and preparation. After four years at college, you should be even better fitted for secretarial work. Apparently, your chief problem is to get perspective and measure values over the years rather than for the fleeting present. I am assuming a selected list of books about college, life at college and how to succeed at college to be had without cost by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a three-cent stamp on a self-addressed envelope.

The World and the Mud Puddles

TOO MUCH LIBERALISM

Almost every American agrees that all hope of nominally full employment and hence of post-war prosperity depends upon the ability of private industry to provide jobs and vastly increased peace-time production. Regardless of party labels or tendencies of liberalism or conservatism, Americans are convinced—from experience and from watching the examples of other nations—that a high standard of living cannot be attained without the production wrought by full employment, and that government-made work cannot be offered as a substitute for an expanded private industry.

But, as Frederick C. Crawford, president of the national association of manufacturers, pointed out the other day, private industry will not be able to accept the opportunity for expanded production and full employment unless it has, at the end of the war, surplus funds for reconversion to peacetime manufacturing. As Crawford put it, "Unless industry can first bring together some of the money which must be employed, it cannot bring together the men who want employment."

The conditions under which private industry can make a successful start at peacetime expansion are (1) surplus funds set aside now for the expensive task of reconversion and (2) a relaxation of excessive government controls on industry, a relaxation that involves substitution of a fair and reasonable labor policy for the administration doctrine that labor is always right and labor's demands always just.

Thus far neither of these conditions are being met. Taxes are taking from industry every cent above a nominal profit, and restrictions are becoming more instead of less binding. If industry is not healthy and booming at the war's end, the made-work bill for the year probably will exceed by many times all the excess-profits revenue of the war period. Far better to sacrifice a few hundred millions or even a billion to a reconversion reserve now than to spend five or six billion for made-work that will not contribute to American prosperity.

The best sign is that Sweden dares to be a sovereign nation instead of something to walk across.

AVOID FURNITURE OVER-CROWDING

If you desire to avoid overcrowding in your home appointments, be very careful not to swing the pendulum in the opposite direction and have your rooms so sparsely decorated that they look cheerless and bare.

Against each section of the wall, place a piece of furniture of proportionate size and avoid putting tables and other pieces in the middle of any small room. Keep the center clear, regardless of its size.

If your widest piece of furniture is a piano, table or divan, place it against your widest wall space, in that wall area left alongside a mantel, place small pictures one above the other. Elsewhere place your largest pictures upon your widest walls.

Either a small floor or a small lawn cluttered with furniture, shrubbery in the center looks smaller in proportion and, what is worse, is arranged in very bad taste. Conversely, a fairly large room sparsely furnished has a bare and cold appearance.

Question: How long should dinner wait for a tardy guest. This question I am asked often.

Answer: Not more than fifteen minutes at the most. Tardiness for dinner being one of the cardinal social sins, the detained guest should certainly call his hostess on the telephone, explain his delay and insist that she shall not wait for him. On his arrival, he should go to her and offer a profound apology.

Question: Recently I was a bridesmaid at the wedding of a close friend. I gave her a wedding gift. Do I have any other "musts" regarding this?—Anne.

Answer: Wedding attendants whether best man, maid-of-honor, bridesmaid or usher, owe a social call to the mother of the bride. Courtesy and etiquette demand that within three weeks after the wedding you pay "our respects" in this manner to the family of the girl who was thoughtful enough to have included you among her very best friends.

HOW PRICES GO

In a recent land valuation case in federal court it was testified that it might take many years to sell the land at the price asked. The government then produced a witness who said it should not take long to make a land sale.

"Didn't you own some land once?" asked the cross-examining attorney.

"Yes."

"Did you sell it in 1940?"

"Yes."

"When did you first start to sell it?"

"In 1929."

"Ha!" said the cross-examiner triumphantly. "It took you 11 years to make that sale. Doesn't this suggest something to you about how long it takes to sell land?"

"Sure it did," the witness replied.

"What did it suggest?" the attorney asked.

"It suggested to me that I asked too much for the land at the start," was the answer, and even the jury-men smiled.

HARD TO DECIDE

A mother, so the story goes, was trying to season her young son to the hardships of army life. She told him he should be prepared to take the hard with easy, the bitter with the sweet and enjoy them as they came, ending with a quotation about everything being grist for the mill.

"Yeah I know," the boy wrote back after a week in camp, "but sometimes I have a hard time deciding whether I am the grist or the mill."

The other who had listened attentively, then asked:

"Who did, then?"

Can America Count On Soviet Friendship?
Is One Of Biggest Riddles Of Post-War Era
Poetic Sentiments Not Common To Everyone

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—Everywhere you hear the question, "What will Stalin do next?" Translated this means in the United States, at least, "Can America count on the friendship of the Soviets?"

I received in yesterday's mail a poem, a remarkable poem, which I hope does not answer this, the biggest riddle of the Second World War. The poem is called "120 Million." It was written by Communist Michael Gold. The friend who sent me "120 Million" is now in Iran. He copied the poem from a textbook for learning English published by the National Commission of the U. S. S. R. in Leningrad for secondary schools in the grades 6 to 10.

My friend explained that many of such textbooks were brought out of Russia by Polish refugees who lived for a time in Russia and later managed to reach temporary homes in Iran and Africa.

Obviously, since "120 Million" was issued officially by Soviet Government wishes to educate school children to believe that Michael Gold's free verse is a picture of America. Susceptible minds thus absorb distortion built on isolated incidents.

Here is "120 Million":
They told me to love my country, America.
But where is America?
I saw no nation in my wandering between the oceans,
I saw 120 millions.
And they hated each other
In a war for money.
America is not one,
It is many.

The white man burns the Negro slave,
The mill boss whips little children,
The Army shoots down miners,
The Army shoots down weavers.
It is a land of enemies.

I saw the wheat fields blaze in the Rocky Mountains,
I saw millions of American flowers,
And heard the bird songs of America.

It is a strong and beautiful earth.
And I, a worker, loved it.
But how could I love those who kill workers?
America, I cannot worship your money God.
This monster whose heart is a Ford car.

Whose brain is a cheap Hollywood movie,
Whose litanies are of fur coats and silk stockings.

Well "Dear Ed" didn't make it but the senate didn't have to vote on Mrs. R. going to Australia and New Zealand.

And she'll do us a lot of good down there.

We don't always agree with her ideas or even her travels but there's no doubt about it that her heart's in the right place.

She's warm and human and colorful and she ought to take the Anasaks like Mme. Chiang took us.

The only thing we're a little worried about is her column.

Australia is 14 hours ahead of our time so maybe she'll have to call it "Tomorrow's My Day Today."

Anyway if I was a soldier flat on my back in some hospital thousands of miles away from home, I can't think of anybody outside my own family I'd rather have come in and say "hello" to me.

She may not be a Betty Grable but she'd sure look like home folks.

Great Game Of Politics

Adjourning Politics

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. MR. JAMES F. BYRNES, chief aide to the President, recently made a public appeal for an adjournment of politics until the election next year. This, it was plausibly argued, would enable us to concentrate on winning the war. Administration publicists and propagandists promptly endorsed this not very original suggestion, but it naturally received its most enthusiastic commendation from the more active and important of the Administration politicians.

IT IS EASY to understand why. Nothing possibly could suit their book better. If Mr. Byrnes' notion should be adopted, the fourth-term nomination and election would be a walkover. If politics should be "relegated to the rear" and kept under cover for the next twelve months or so there would really be no fight, no campaign and the election would become a farce. No one knows this better than the astute and likable Mr. Byrnes, who, despite his high character and ability, nevertheless, is primarily a politician, for many years steeped in politics clear up to his alabaster brow.

A SIGNIFICANT indication of just how much Mr. Byrnes' appeal means to his own side was given in the recent unsought intrusion of Mr. Roosevelt's Postmaster General and Chairman of the Democratic National Committee into the New York situation. Though he had nothing whatever to do with the New York affair, Mr. Walker appeared in conference Mr. Michael Kennedy, leader of Tammany Hall, Mr. Eddie Flynn, leader of the Bronx, Mr. Frank Kelly, leader of Brooklyn, and others in an effort to see that the man the Democrats nominated for Lieutenant Governor was one who could be depended upon not to make it more difficult for the President to control the New York delegation in the convention next year.

THIS, IN ITSELF, rather makes a joke of Mr. Byrnes' proposal, which was made as impressively as though he really expected it to be accepted. However, there still are several things that should be said and understood concerning it. In the first place, of course, it is an impossible proposition. There is no way by which politics can be adjourned any

Nurses Aide Class Showing Progress

Nurses aides who are constantly answering the call of an urgent need in local hospitals having already received their caps and graduation diplomas, have proven their worthiness in many instances. All the while this is going on continuously, another class of 22 women is soaring toward the same goal by attending classes five days a week at the Jameson Memorial hospital.

The recipe for becoming a good nurses aide will be found in the following: "A dash of determination, a portion of willingness, a cheerful spirit 'to do' mixed with a heart of kindness topped with an unspoken confidence, a measure of reliability, blend with a sincere effort to cooperate and serve with a smile." These qualities, and more will be found in the group of nurses aide volunteers wearing the blue uniform, as they give freely of their time and service to helping those confined in hospitals. Through their work they release the registered nurses to go to the fighting fronts to care for loved ones defending our democracy.

A mother of two fine sons with one in service, feels that by doing what she can to help those in need around her, that in turn, perhaps someone along the way will be doing some kindness for her son who is enlisted in the air corps. Some have always had a desire to nurse and felt they could be of valuable assistance in the war emergency program, so enrolled. In another instance, a mother whose children are grown and with two in service, feels that her time is being well spent in a good cause, in nursing at Jameson Memorial hospital, for serving here she can keep the home fires burning for the return of her boys. A wide variety of reasons have prompted housewives, mothers and others to be nurses aide.

Nurses aides is a field that is open to the woman in all walks of life who have a heartfelt desire to help Uncle Sam win this war.

Two partial views of the Replacement Shipping Department

Little Journeys through
JOHNSON BRONZE

The Shipping Department

When an order of bearings passes the final inspection they are correct in every detail. Each surface gleams like gold. No nicks or scratches are permitted . . . in fact they are handled like eggs.

Seeing that these bearings reach the customer in this same perfect condition is the responsibility of the Shipping Department. Planning the route so that the shipment arrives in the shortest possible time, at the lowest transportation cost, is likewise a function of the Shipping Department.

If you would check the shipments leaving Johnson Bronze for a day, you would find practically every state in the union . . . every allied country in the world represented. In one set of boxes would be bars for a mine in Idaho. Another would contain automotive bearings for South Africa. Hundreds of other boxes would bear cryptic signs . . . signs that only Army intelligence can decipher. Their destination . . . ?

Assembling orders . . . carefully packing each bearing . . . complete knowledge of all ways and means of transportation calls for experience and know how of a high order. ## St. Paul's Church 95th Anniversary Observance Sunday

Rev. John P. Stump Of Emsworth To Speak At Morning Service At 10:45

St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church will celebrate its 95th anniversary at a service Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock with Rev. John P. Stump, son of the pastor, Dr. A. M. Stump, and Mrs. Stump, as the anniversary speaker.

Rev. John Stump is a graduate of the local high school, Muhlenberg College at Allentown, Pa., and Mt. Airy Lutheran Theological Seminary. He took post graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania and served an internship as assistant pastor under Dr. Stover of the Messiah (Friendly) Lutheran church in Philadelphia. At present, he is serving St. James Evangelical Lutheran church at Emsworth in the Pittsburgh area.

St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, at North Jefferson and Grant streets, was organized on August 28, 1843. One of the moving spirits was Rev. W. A. Passavant, D. D., founder of the Zellenople Orphans' and Old People's homes, the Rochester Epileptic homes, Passavant Hospital in Pittsburgh, and a hospital and deaconess home in Milwaukee. He seemed to have had almost a prophetic foresight of land values and locations which were to become the very centers of the cities where he located institutions and churches. For St. Paul's, he had chosen the site where now the First Methodist church stands, only to be over-ruled by those locally interested with the remark, "It is too far out of the center of the population." For a later location, they went two blocks "farther out" and located the church where it has been for these 95 years and still is a down town church.

Seventeen pastors have served the church during this period and the present pastor, A. M. Stump, D. D., has served May 1, 1925.

Dr. Mahler will also speak at the mission Sunday at 11 a. m., on the subject, "Filled With The Spirit," and at 7:45 p. m., on the subject, "Biology."

REV. W. H. RYALL

AT FIRST CHURCH

Rev. William Howard Ryall, pastor of the Lemington avenue Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, will preach at the 11 o'clock service in the First Presbyterian church on Sunday morning. He has been for a number of years, at the Lemington avenue church which has prospered greatly during his pastorate.

Of special interest is the fact that Mrs. Ryall, the former Miss Eva Miller, was the Sunday school visitor of First church prior to their marriage last October. Her friends will welcome this opportunity of greeting her and Mr. Ryall on their first visit to this church.

To congress: If you must recover "excess income," stop soaking white-collar people and take the increase from those who are getting it.

Epworth Church Concludes Year

Many Improvements Noted In Methodist Church Work In Fiscal Year

Epworth Methodist church will conclude one of the most successful and progressive years of its history next Sunday when it brings to a close the 1942-43 business and fiscal year.

Under the active and aggressive leadership of Rev. William A. Thornton, marked improvements have been noticeable in every department of the church's life and work. Considerable progress has been made in debt reduction together with conspicuous improvements in the church interior and the exterior surroundings and property conditions. The current year's work reflects most creditably upon the loyalty and assiduous work of the entire official and the congregation.

Recognition will be made at a special service on Sunday morning of the accomplishments of the past year and an invitation has gone out to the members and friends of the church to attend this service.

Pool To Close After Monday

Kiddies To Have Last Swim In Park Pool On Monday

Should Old Sol feel so disposed and sends rays of warm sunshine into this vicinity Monday it is likely that thousands of children will wade and swim in Cascade Park pool because after midnight Monday the pool will be closed for the year according to an announcement today by the park commission. The closing time was decided upon because of cold weather.

Kiddies day will be celebrated as usual Monday. The low rates will prevail at the pool and on the rides. However, the rides will not cease to run but will operate throughout next week and will be kept busy one week from Monday which is Labor Day.

Pennsylvania Throws Most On Scrap Heap

State Leads Nation, Salvages 13 Per Cent Of Iron And Steel Total

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Aug. 28.—Pennsylvania who make up less than eight per cent of the nation's population, salvaged 13.4 per cent of the national total of 13,300,000 tons of iron and steel scrap for the war effort during the first half of the year, the State Defense Council disclosed today.

Executive director Ralph C. Hutchinson said that the state with an overall iron and steel scrap quota of 1,635,000 tons for that period, shipped out 1,781,892 tons to war plants.

"Pennsylvania," he said, "continued to hold first place in the nation among the 48 states in the shipment of iron and steel scrap, with Ohio second, Michigan third, and Illinois fourth."

He warned, however, that "as soon as the present supplies of the mills are exhausted, the need for additional scrap will be greater than ever" and called for intensified effort by salvage committees and the public.

Whose worshippers die of nervous glut.

Whose victims die of hunger. Who killed Sacco and Vanzetti? Not you, Oh Mississippi River. Who extorted the world's gold? Not you, Oh Allegheny Mountains. It will come, the ruin, defeat and sorrow.

For you, fat America. And the spirit of Lenin will walk among your 120 million. Sooner or later, Lenin, Lenin, Lenin!

I see the bloody birth you will bring. I see fire and ashes.

And my own land rising from the ashes.

I see peace for the 120 million. I see a hammer-sun by day. A sickle-moon by night. Shining on a new America.

A workers and farmers' America. Not pretty thoughts—these of Gold's poem. I believe their sentiments are not common to all Russians. The above quotation is given in the Soviet textbook, the general title "120 Million" which Michael Gold, himself gave to a full volume of poetry. I devoutly hope, as does every other American, for a workable and lasting friendship between the U. S. S. R. and the U. S. A. But I also think it well to embrace such a friendship with eyes wide open and feet prepared for pitfalls.

Relief workers, so my friend added in his letter from Iran, have been worried by some refugees' hatred of America. Evidently, he continued, communistic doctrine finds a place in the distracted minds of many victims of war before American friends arrive with food, clothing and medicine. Often it has been the delicate task of relief workers to change suspicion of America into trust of America.

Danish Strikes Reported Worse

Worried German Officers Call Hurried Conference In Copenhagen

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Mounting strikes and disorders within Denmark today were reported to have forced high-ranking German army officers to hold a hurried conference in Copenhagen.

The British radio, in a broadcast heard by CBS, quoted a transmission from Finland which told of the conference being summoned to discuss "measures pertaining to the recent disturbances."

The Finnish announcer gave a Swedish newspaper account as the source of his information.

At the same time, strikes and disorders at the Helsingør shipyards have spread through the city to other important war plants, the British broadcast added.

Local U. S. Marine, Helena Survivor, Here

Corp. Clyde Rainey Returns From Battling Japs In Southwest Pacific

Early Friday morning, Corporal Clyde Rainey of the U. S. Marines arrived in Mahoningtown from San Francisco, Calif., where he arrived two weeks ago from the southwest Pacific area. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Rainey of 9 Darling-ton avenue, and on 30 days leave.

Corporal Rainey is one of the survivors of the U. S. S. Helena, which was finally lost in battling the Japs in Kula Gulf on July 6.

Clyde is feeling and looking fine, and says he is mighty glad to be home again to see his father mother, sisters and relatives and friends.

Corporal Rainey says he has been in quite a number of exciting battles up to the sinking of his ship, as shown by his decorations. He and a number of other survivors on a raft had a strenuous time keeping themselves from being sucked down into the deep when the Helena made her last dive. The press reported an incident in the Helena sinking about a warship signaling a raft of survivors "We will be back." Clyde was aboard that warship, having been picked up, which was still engaged in battle.

The warship was able to keep its promise and picked up the occupants of the raft.

Before the conclusion of his leave, Clyde will be notified where he will be stationed in the future.

Moose Women Learn Many Items Needed At Deshon Hospital

Local Residents Can Do Much Out Of Generosity Of Their Hearts For Deshon Lads

Women of the Moose who recently made a visit to Deshon Army hospital at Butler, Pa., for the purpose of getting an idea of what is needed in the way of equipment, recreation and items to pass time away for the boys, were Senior Regent Mrs. Mary Cartella, recorder, Mrs. Rophia McConnell and Junior Regent Mrs. Helen Broadbent.

The trio left Friday morning for the hospital, where they visited in behalf of the Women of the Moose, and were taken on tour. It is learned that the people of New Castle can do much in the way of brightening up the hospital for the patients confined there. A tremendous job is ahead, and it will take the co-operation of many to get the desired results accomplished.

Room furnishings are greatly in need, such as comfortable chairs, dressers, bed furnishings, etc., for numerous rooms that could be used are idle due to lack of furniture. Also, the nurses home is in need of many items and it is stated that the officials at Deshon will accept all donations that would be of benefit and can be used.

The Moose of New Castle will make definite plans and take steps in which to give assistance at the next meeting.

A need for magazines, books, games, and furnishings for a recreation room for those lads recuperating and having nothing to do to put in their time, is another phase that calls for immediate attention.

The Moose, and it is hoped many other organizations, will "lend a hand" in making Deshon comfortable and a brighter place for those men in uniform who have already given time in the fighting forces so that Americans can continue to live free and happily. It is definitely up to the people to make the hospital desirable, through their generous donations. The time is now.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

The Constitution of the country and the physical aspects of our elective system would rule it out.

IN THE SECOND PLACE, it is a false assumption that politics has interfered—or threatens to interfere—with wholehearted concentration upon winning the war.

Politics has not prevented Republicans and anti-fourth-term Democrats in Congress from giving full support to every request for money and power which Mr. Roosevelt has made since Pearl Harbor. Nor has it any way hampered the financing of the war or diluted the unity and enthusiasm with which our armed forces have been and are now supported.

On the contrary, political criticism has been justifiably centered upon the mistakes of omission and commission on the home front. Without that sort of criticism the situation in Washington, bad as it is, would be far worse. Without that criticism the cost in lives and money of this war would be far greater. Without that criticism, it is appalling to think of the lengths to which waste, incompetency, New Deal politics and lack of sense would have carried us.

THE WELL-KNOWN White House attitude is that all Administration criticism is political criticism or Presidential "heckling" and now it is proposed that, in the interests of the war, this be abandoned. If such a move were taken seriously, it would effectively gag all Roosevelt critics and put an end to all independent speaking and writing. It would mean that the Republicans would have to cease their attack upon the vulnerable spots in war management. It would mean that all restraint would be removed from the Administration officials; that the President, with immunity, could decide the city bosses and radical labor leaders who form the basis of the fourth-term movement. It would make it impossible adequately to acquaint the country with the opposing candidates or get to the people the opposition arguments.

IT WOULD MAKE ALL PUBLICITY FAVORABLE PUBLICITY FOR MR. ROOSEVELT.

It would give him a monopoly of the channels of communication, remove from him all restrictions, permit the four-term strategists to operate without protest or disclosure, which so far as they are concerned, would be the ideal situation. In other words, the proposal to adjourn politics is itself transparently political, well designed to give the White House incumbent overwhelming advantages in his effort to continue as President another term. It is not in the interests of the war—quite the reverse. It is in the interests of the Roosevelt campaign, and no matter how patriotically couched, the American people would be boobyish in the extreme if they did not see through it.

Motor Clubs Seek Showdown On Gas

Secretaries Of 17 Eastern States To Meet In New York September 1st

By TONY ZECCA
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 28.—Delegates of motor clubs in 17 Eastern seaboard states today prepared to convene in New York on September 1 for a "showdown" with the administration over the fuel shortage.
"This concerted effort," explained Richard B. Maxwell, spokesman for the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, "was held in abeyance each time we were handed a crumb, but now we are going to demand a showdown on this gasoline shortage which has earmarks of being manufactured."
An organization will be formed, said Maxwell, to press for an "equalized use of gasoline over the United States."
The gathering, which was organized by motor groups in Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey, is expected to be attended by a number of congressmen.

Ask For Jeffers
The delegates are expected to demand, according to Maxwell, that: (1) Economic Stabilizer James F. Byrnes "release the results of the investigation of the petroleum situation which has been promised but never made public"; (2) President Roosevelt appoint William M. Jeffers as czar of gasoline and fuel oil; and (3) Congress authorize an investigation of the gasoline situation by Bernard M. Baruch.
Maxwell said motor officials have expressed doubt that September 1 will see the end of the ban on pleasure driving. "We don't believe the ban will be lifted on September 1 or we wouldn't have called the meeting," he asserted.

MERCER GIRL COMMISSIONED
MERCER, Aug. 28.—Mrs. W. I. Gilette, South Elm street, has been notified by her daughter, Elizabeth, that she has received her commission as second lieutenant in the Medical department of the United States Army. Lieut. Gilette is physiotherapist at the station hospital at Camp Campbell, Ky.

OCD NOTES

Activities Of OCD Workers Are Outlined Here

City OCD is making arrangements for the various affairs to be staged at the picnic which will be held at Cascade park, Labor Day. As a part of the program there will be first aid demonstrations. One of the leading first aid men of the county has been asked to take charge of the demonstration. He has assured the OCD that it will be conducted. This will be of interest to all OCD personnel in first aid.

City OCD has called attention of all persons concerned that they do not have any jurisdiction or anything to do with any other OCD group, excepting those which are in the city of New Castle. This explanation is made for persons that think otherwise. Each political subdivision of the county is charged directly with the maintenance of its own civilian defense activities and its own civilian defense officers. If these officers do not function there is nothing the city office can do about it.

A new OCD class for wardens and fire guards only, will be started at 7:30 p. m. September 9 at the Lincoln-Garfield school. No messengers will be admitted to the class. Anyone interested in attending may call 6586, the city office, for further information. Ann Hitchen will instruct the class. Any OCD worker who has been issued equipment but who has not completed the course is requested to attend the class in order that they may be certified.

State Personnel Cut Effects Big Saving

Inheritance Tax Division Payroll Is Slashed By $320,682

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 28.—The transfer of the state inheritance tax division from Democratic to Republican control will save taxpayers $320,682 annually through a reduction in personnel and administrative costs, Gov. Edward Martin asserted today.
The Republican chief executive said the division had been reorganized in line with the administration's announced policy of streamlining state agencies and reducing the cost of government. In May 1942, he asserted, there were 425 employees with a total salary of $844,362, while today the number of employees had been cut to 262 and the payroll reduced to $523,680.

Inheritance tax appraisal was transferred earlier this year by the GOP-dominated legislature from the jurisdiction of Auditor General F. Clair Ross, the governor's Democratic gubernatorial opponent last fall, to the department of revenue, headed by Secretary David W. Harris, Republican city chairman of Philadelphia.

The reduction in personnel will not destroy the division's efficiency, said Governor Martin. "From my

Al Smith Rings Up 13th Win; Detroit Beaten, Drops In Fifth Place

(International News Service)
The Detroit Tigers, which only a few days ago bode fair to hold second place in the American league, today were back in the fifth slot—and might have found themselves further down the list but for the fact that a weak Boston team trailed so far behind.

Denny Galehouse hurled the St. Louis Browns to a 3 to 1 victory over the Tigers. Hal Newhouser chalked up his ninth straight loss, after the Browns peppered him with runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings. The Detroit single run came in the last inning when Dick Wakefield knocked out a triple, scoring on Stephens' error and depriving Galehouse of a shutout.

Al Smith Adds 13th
The Chicago Cubs took their second in a row from the Pittsburgh Pirates last night, when Claude Passeau set the Bucaneros down with five hits, 3 to 2. Bob Klinger started for the Pirates, but after being tagged for seven hits and all the Cubs runs, was relieved by Bill Brandt in the sixth. Brandt allowed only one safety.

The Cincinnati Reds last night cut the St. Louis Cardinals' lead in the National league to only 11½ games, before the biggest crowd ever to witness a Cincinnati night game. The Cards dropped the contest, 3 to 2.

No other games were scheduled in either league.

Raymond's Perfect Bunt Decides Tight United Engineering Softball Tussle Friday

In one of the classic pitching battles of the season, Norm Bishara paced the Edgars to a 4-3 triumph over the crack Morgrets, in a United Engineering Softball league Friday night.

Manager Tex Richards tallied the winning run when "Lefty" Raymond laid down a perfect bunt, catching the Morgrets off guard.

Lipovsky Beaten
Frank Lipovsky, termed one of the greatest softball twirlers ever to perform in the county, was charged with the defeat.

Sammy Bullano uncorked the fielding gem of the evening by pocketing what seemed a certain homer.

Steagles Acquire Lee Zimmerman

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—Bolstered at the halfback post by the addition of Leroy Zimmerman of the Washington Redskins, the Eagles-Steelers resumed intensive drills today in preparation for the clash with the Chicago Bears at Shibe Park, Thursday night, September 16.

Zimmerman was obtained from the Redskins in exchange for center Ken Hayden and the rights to end Jack Smith. The 200-pound Zimmerman is expected to serve as a badly needed passer since the team recently lost ace Tommy Thompson to the army. For three years Zimmerman was an understudy to the famed Sammy Baugh of the Redskins.

Johnny Neum, Kansas City manager, has been a Yankee farm pilot for many years and now has his first second division club.

HUNTING LICENSE PERIOD EXTENDED TO SEPTEMBER 30

HARRISBURG, Aug. 28.—Pennsylvania's State Game commission today announced that 1942 hunting licenses, which expire August 31, will be honored until September 30.

War printing priorities have prevented distribution of new permits. As a result, the commission explained, hunters have acted so that hunters desiring to hunt birds may not be penalized.

Legion League Game Ends In Tie

Doubleheader Will Be Played Tomorrow Afternoon At Marshall Field

Last night's elimination contest between the Dean Park Dodgers and Wolverines, at Marshall Field, ended in a scoreless tie. McCollion of Wolverines, and Campbell of Dean Park engaging in a thrilling hurling duel, the game proving one of the best staged in league play this summer.

Dean Park was able to get but one hit off McCollion, while Campbell gave up two for Dean Park.

Because of the tie, the game will have to be played off Sunday afternoon, with a double header starting at 1:30 o'clock. The first game will be between Wolverines and Dean Park, and the winner of this contest will meet Cozy Corners. These will be played at Marshall Field.

Cozy Corners are pepped up for the game and expect to make a good showing. Although the first year they have played together, they have shown great improvement under the leadership of W. Allshouse, their manager. He expects to use either Zeigler or Donegan on the mound, with Zarone behind the plate.

Favor Slide Rule In $50,000 Derby To Be Run Today

Eyes Of Racing On American Classic At Washington Park; Askmenow Threat

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—W. E. Boone's Slide Rule reigned the favorite to win the 33rd running of the $50,000 added American derby at Washington Park today.

Seven three-year-olds are entered, pointing their snouts at prize money totalling $74,700. The winner takes $56,150.

And if Slide Rule turns the trick, he'll boost his earnings this year to $134,700. Ferrel Zuffel, who steered the colt to victory in the Arlington classic, will be aboard today.

Wins At Jamaica
Slide Rule, before coming into his own in the classic, opened the season with a first in the experimental handicap at Jamaica. He ran third in the Kentucky Derby and second in the Withers mile, in each case coming in through Count Fleet's dust.

Slide Rule's most highly regarded rival today is Hal Price Headley's Askmenow, generally regarded as the class of western fillies after winning the Arlington Matron stakes and the Beverly handicap. Another item in her favor is the identity of the jockey today, George Woolf, who rates tops in the business.

Of the remaining entries in today's mile and a quarter test—Bold Captain, Famous Victory, Alquest, Dove Pie and Kanopolis—none has turned in a good performance in a major stake this year.

The derby offers $10,000 in second prize money, $5,000 for third and $2,500 for fourth.

How's About Trout Fishing In September?

Pennsylvania Commission Awaiting Reaction Of Anglers To Novel Proposal

HARRISBURG, Aug. 28.—What you do think about fishing for trout in September? Sound O. K.? Well, there's a possibility.

Charles K. Fox, state fish commission official, posed the question today for Pennsylvania anglers and invited their reaction.

He proposed decreasing the creel limit from 10 to 6—which is the same for bass—and increasing the size limit for brown and rainbow trout from six to eight inches, explaining that these steps would assure sufficient holdover fish to make September trout fishing safe and sane instead of closing the season July 31 as at present.

"It is a simple trade of limiting the kill in return for 30 more days of trout," Fox pointed out. "The decision should rest with those who participate in the sport and the reaction of anglers to such a season should be most interesting."

Jersey Tries Plan
Fox reported that New Jersey Izaak Walton, who now enjoy such a season, compare September trout fishing to the pleasures of the sport in May—the best month in Pennsylvania. He said the disappearance of rainbow trout in this state may be like Michigan's experience where this gamey specimen took to the deep waters beyond the fishermen's hooks until September when they returned to familiar streams.

He concluded that a September trout season would relieve the fishing pressure on bass waters and give the trout anglers a double share of May days.

There will be no lack of service-men when the Nittany Lion football team plays at home this fall. More than 2,200 Army, Navy, Marine and Air Corps trainees are stationed at Penn State.

Robinson Easily Beats Armstrong; Henry Quits Ring

Ex-Triple King No Match In 10-Reeler As 15,371 Fans Stamp, Boo

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Henry Armstrong, former triple-titholder, today had overwhelming evidence that the old master's style of fighting is still good after Cpl. Ray Robinson battered out a decision over the veteran ringman before 15,371 fans at Madison Square Garden.

Robinson, employing the same style attack with which his former idol hammered his way to the featherweight, lightweight and welterweight crowns, held the upper hand throughout the entire 10-round bout.

Fans Stamp, Boo
As the fans alternately stamped and booed, the once-great Armstrong bowed in against his younger, faster opponent only to be met by a smashing straight left or a sharp right.

Immediately after the bout, which grossed $60,789, the 31-year-old Armstrong announced his retirement from the ring. It was his second such announcement, having said much the same thing a year and a half ago.

Robinson, who had been training only intermittently in gym near the army camp where he is stationed, took each of the 10 rounds and scarcely had to move a step forward in doing so. Armstrong was game, but ineffectual and many fans left the arena disheartened at the spectacle of one of the greatest boxing idols of the modern ring being so badly outpointed.

GARDEN STATE $10,000 HANDICAP LISTED TODAY

(International News Service)
CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 28.—A star-studded field of seven top-notch steeds will go to the post this afternoon in the $10,000 added mile-and-a-furlong Trenton Handicap at Garden State Park.

Five of the probable field are handicap runners from Belmont With Regards, Spring Ace who will endeavor to carry his speed over the longer route, has come in from New York along with Arthur Hanger's Dit; Belair Stud's Vagrancy; Tom Head's Boyss, and J. J. Johnson's Paperboy. Aonbarr, owned by Helen Hickman, will represent the middleweight, while E. K. Bryson's Abbe Pierre is the sole local contender.

With Regards will carry top weight of 118 pounds, while Boyss, Abbe Pierre and Aonbarr have each been assigned 113. Vagrancy will be topped by 10 two more than Dit and five more than Paperboy.

HARDER NAMED MOST VALUABLE FOR ALL-STARS

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Marlin (Pat) Harder, University of Wisconsin fullback, took his place today as the most valuable player for the All-Star collegians in their game with the Washington Redskins, professional football champions.

He was selected by a vote of the scores of newspaper men who saw the contest Wednesday night at Dwyer Stadium, Evanston, Ill.

Harder not only contributed to the Collegians' 27 to 7 victory with two touchdowns, but displayed unusual speed and excellence in ball handling.

COMPETITION KEEN
Former George Washington University players now seeking places on the Penn State football team as members of the Navy V-12 contingent number nine. The University of Dayton is a close second with seven candidates.

Pete Gray, Memphis' one-armed outfielder, prefers a bat heavier than those used by his mates.

SPORTS RAMBLINGS

Sports ragout:—

Interest in the coming Johnson-Bronze-United Engineering championship series is growing as fast as a snowball rolling downhill. When the dinner whistle shrieks through the various departments, the pros and cons of the blue ribbon affair serve as the centerpiece. That's what the employees think about the athletic attraction.

Being a nut tough to crack oftentimes is a stumblingblock. Bessemer high, which has been whipping Class B and even a few Class A football foes in a seemingly effortless manner for more than a decade, substantiates the point. Because of their prowess, the Cementers are on the "keep away from" list of many district schools.

Inability to schedule the required number of WPIAL games means that the localities can win 'em all and still fall to gain the banner. If this sounds a bit zany, let me know of a few Class B WPIAL clubs interested in carding the Bessemerites and I'll make arrangements for the skirmishes. Any takers?

After spending the summer working in the United Engineering plant, Paul Cuba, assistant Ne-Ca-Hi coach, and George Binder, Ben Franklin assistant mentor, are returning to their school teaching posts. . . . ## York's Amazing Home Run Spree Steals Major Loops' Hitting Show

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

Early this season the stunts of Rudolph Preston York as a hitter was such that he was being put in the "has-been" class. And, of course, the big first sacker of the Detroit Tigers continued to draw the smirks from exacting fans for his fielding habits.

Time changes everything, and so it has Rudy York.

Today, York is the No. 1 baseball figure. Every day the same fans who were belittling his hitting prowess eagerly scan the papers for the Tiger box score to see if Mr. York has hit another home run.

Holds Mark

Beginning the week of Aug. 23, York had connected for 15 round-trippers. With several double-headers on the week's schedule, York seems like a sure bet to top his all-time mark.

Clouts 184 Homers
York now has 184 round-trippers in his major career. Prior to this season, he was fourth on the list of active homer hitters but should climb a couple of notches after the present season.

York began his pro career just 10 years ago, as an outfielder with Knoxville of the Southern league. He moved rapidly, going to Baton Rouge, Beaumont, Fort Worth and Milwaukee before becoming a permanent member of the Detroit entourage.

His all-time homer record is 37, a total he compiled with Milwaukee in 1936. He hit 35 homers in his first season with the Tigers for his best mark in the majors. His present season's total is 28, which may mean he is headed for a new season's homer mark for himself.

York's amazing home run spree should have racked up a new record for a month's home run production.

As you probably know, York himself holds the present mark, 18 homers in a month.

It was back in August, 1937, that York, playing his first full season with the Tigers as a third baseman-catcher, banged out 18 homers for an all-time mark.

Beginning the week of Aug. 23, York had connected for 15 round-trippers. With several double-headers on the week's schedule, York seems like a sure bet to top his all-time mark.

'Canes Shove Off For Camp Monday

Conclude Taggart Stadium Workouts This Morning; Muddy Creek Stage All Set

By this time Monday, New Castle high's 1943 football battalion will be undergoing its second workout on Muddy Creek Falls' gridiron at Grant City.

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh and his aide-de-camp this morning sent the more than 60 prospects through the seventh session since the opening of drills Wednesday. As in the past several days, the workouts was devoid of rough stuff. The usual matinee ordeal was omitted.

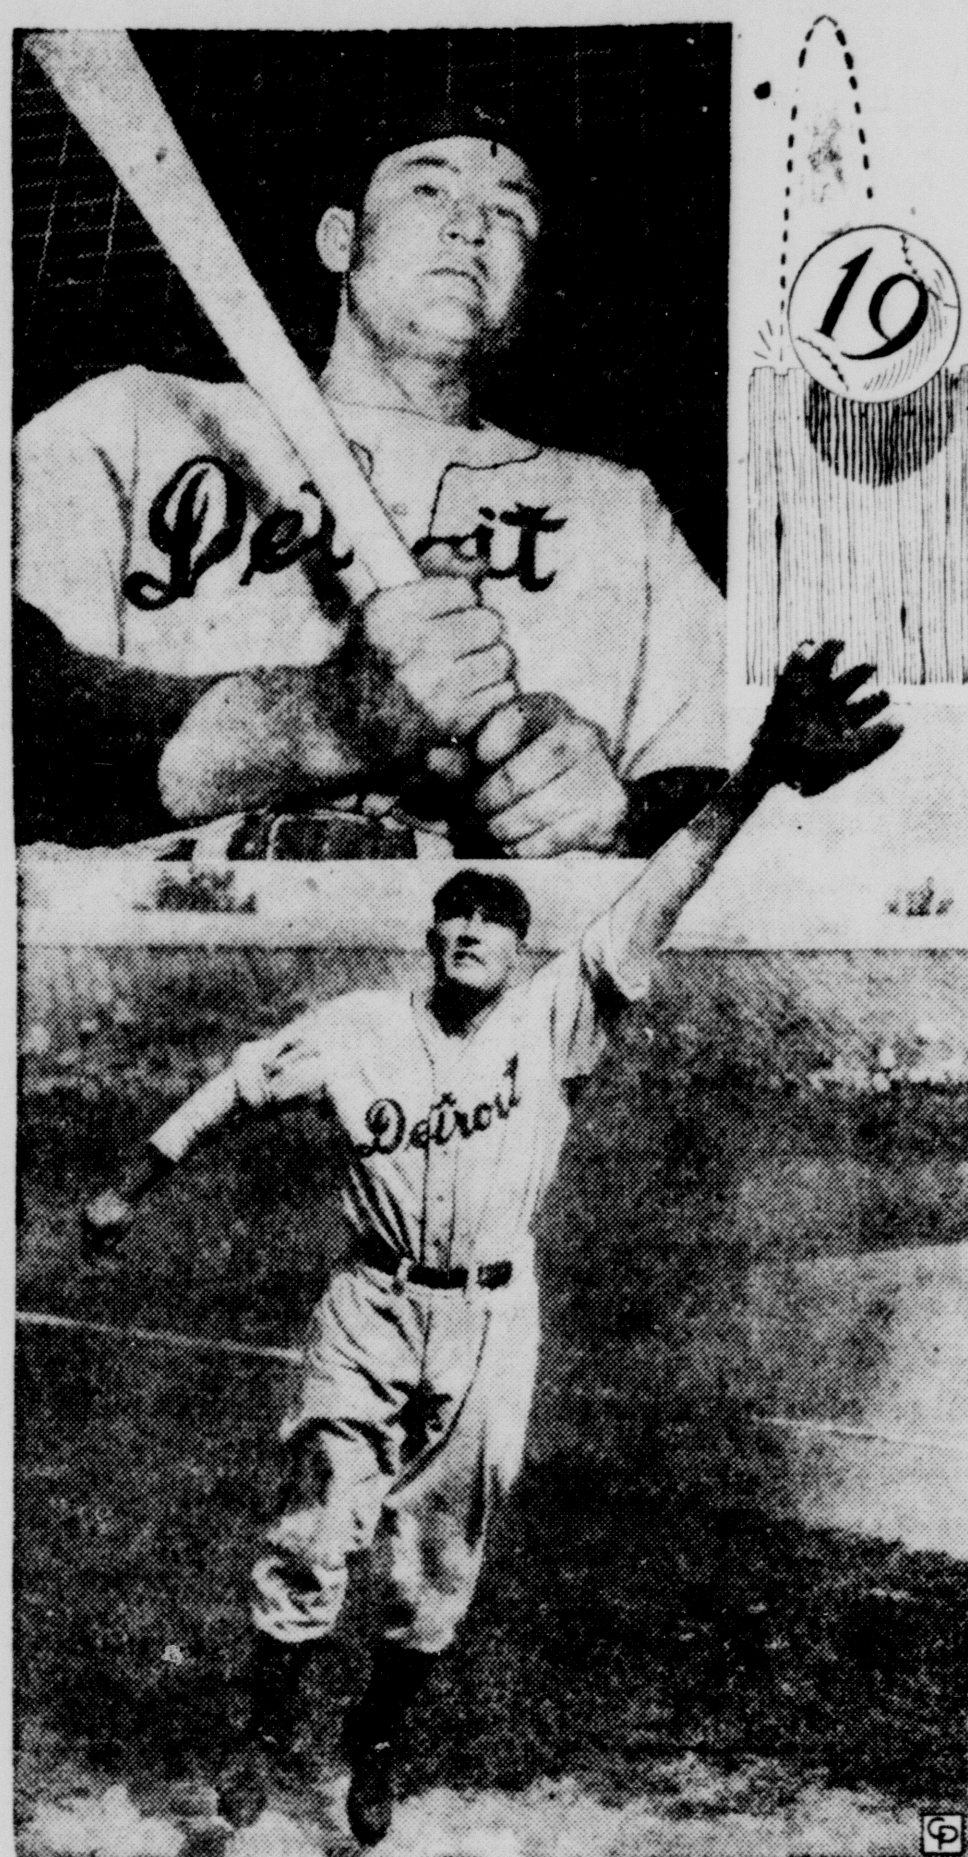

Bridenbaugh was picking his "camp crew" as this was being keyed. As a result, the list will be held back until Monday or Tuesday.

Leave Early Monday
Early Monday morning, the squad will hurry to the "Cane" spring training" den to spend the entire week in one of the most ideal camps in the country.

During the first five days, the griders will go through a two-a-day program. Saturday morning, before locking the molesters, the griders will stage a practice game with no holds barred.

Faculty Manager Ralph Gardner today said that the stage is set for the annual arrival of the 40-odd footballers.

Pete Gray, Memphis' one-armed outfielder, prefers a bat heavier than those used by his mates.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Grattan Maid, owned by R. J. Ferguson of Butler, will be one of the starters in the two-day racing meet at the Butler Fair and Exposition next week, following victory at the Dayton Fair last week.

Grattan Maid paced in 2:14 to win the final heat of the 2:20 pace at Dayton after finishing fourth and third in the first two heats. In addition, the Butler owned horse will stage an exhibition mile, probably paced by Bobby Vol.

Vol, a stablemate, placed 6-6-4 at the Dayton fair in the 2:24 pace. Calumet Felix, driven by Mr. Halter and formerly owned by the late Charley Campbell, placed first in the opening heat and second in the second and third heats.

Yankee Boy, a trotter of unusual ability, was a straight heat winner in the races at Dayton and will race in the events here. Yankee Boy ran away in the third heat, because of a broken harness, but came home the winner.

Announcement has been made that Bob Leary, who has been the starter at Butler for the past two years, will be in charge of the starting again this year.

Racing will be held both Wednesday and Thursday afternoons with racing called at 1:30 o'clock each day.

Pfc. Bryan "Bixie" Grant, of Atlanta, Ga., one of the greatest "retrievers" in tennis history, announced at St. Louis he would doff G. I. equipment next week to return to Forest Hills, N. Y., and compete in the National Championships.

Grant, who is now stationed at Jefferson Barracks, has been in the army for the past 16 months, and has been absent from topflight tennis competition for the last two years.

His decision to return to competition was prompted by a furlough, which coincided with the Sept. 1-6 date of the National tourney. He will arrive at Forest Hills Monday in time for two days of practice.

Majors Willing; War Department Approval Awaited

Hope To Send Two Squads On Overseas Tour Of Army Camps

BASEBALL LORDS OK PLAN FRIDAY

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—The plan to send two teams of major league baseball players on an overseas tour of army camps received new and official impetus today. Official, that is, as far as baseball is concerned.

The major leagues are willing. Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis announced, and now it's up to the war department.

"We are hopeful the plan will go through," Landis said after conferring with Presidents Ford Frick of the National League and Will Harridge of the American.

Financing Trip Problem
The commissioner explained that a number of problems remain to be solved "with major league managers, players and officials. One of the remaining problems is the method of financing the trip.

Landis suggested competition between two teams, each of 18 men and representing each major league club. They will not necessarily be "all-star" aggregations, he said, indicating the leagues would pool their players for volunteers.

Landis and the two league presidents agreed on a method of selecting the two managers, but the judge refused to come up with details.

No preference was shown in the discussions as to where the teams should be sent. Landis said, but he added that England, Africa and the South Pacific were mentioned most often.

Plan Explained
"All that's been suggested are two teams, representative of the two leagues—two teams playing each other," Landis said. "That doesn't mean we will necessarily take players who were on the all-star teams."

He indicated that the two league presidents would pool their players to find out who is available and anxious to go. If more than 18 in each league are found, it would be up to the manager to decide who goes.

Landis killed proposals that former major leaguers now in service be included on the globe-trotting troupe by declaring:

"Such players are out of our hands."

Crown Three New AAU Swim Champs

(International News Service)

JASONVILLE, Ind., Aug. 28.—Three new national senior AAU champions were crowned today as two teams fought even-tempered for the lead in the third day of the annual swimming and diving championships.

Tied for the lead with 10 points each were the Riviera club of Indianapolis and the Multnomah club of Portland, Ore.

Of the individual crowns to fall today, the title in the women's 1500-meter free-style, belonging to Nancy Merki of Portland, fell the hardest. She was upset, and upset badly, by Florence Schmitt of the New York City Women's Swimming Association.

Platform Diving

Jeanne Kessler of the Chicago Lake Athletic club took the underfused women's platform diving title with Dorothy Ziegler of the Chicago Medinah club offering the only competition. The title was vacated by Margaret Reinhold, who is now in the WAVES.

The national women's 100-meter free-style crown went to Brenda Helsner, Portland, taking over where her teammate, Suzanne Zimmerman, held sway last year. Ann Curtis, Pacific Association speedster, swam a close second.

RELIEF PAYMENTS LOWER THIS WEEK

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 28.—State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner reported that direct relief payments made to needy residents of Lawrence county during the week ended today show a decrease of 26 from those of the previous week. Payments for the week totaled $868 which was $698 lower than those of the comparable week of last year. Payments by the Bureau of Assistance Disbursement in the State Treasury department follow: Current week, $868.00; previous week, $894.00.

ALABAMA QUILTS

WOOD-DRIVEN ENGINE TOPS BREWERY HORSE

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—It took the war to prove that the gasoline engine couldn't replace the horse, but a Brooklyn brewing company thinks a wood-burning engine might.

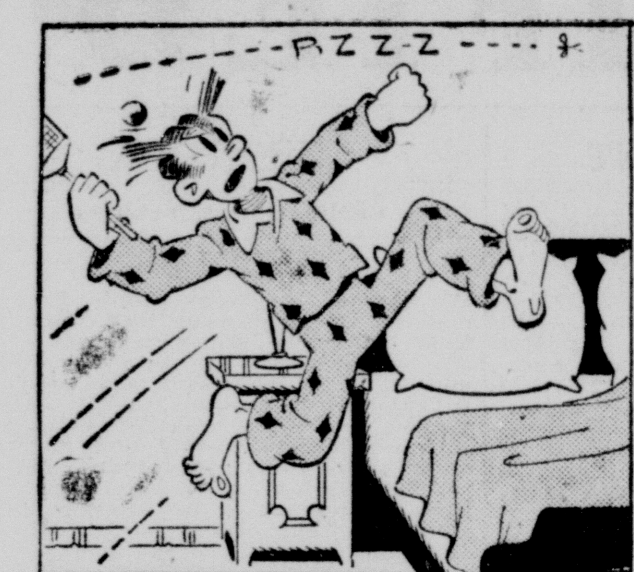

Two months ago the Liebmann Breweries substituted horse-drawn trucks to save gas, but now are operating a wood-burning truck which it finds more efficient than horses.

Officials say 20 pounds of wood equals a gallon of gas for mileage.

STOCKS
FAILS TO MOVE

Tape Barely Moves In Abbreviated Session; Most Price Changes Fractional

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The stock market came to a virtual standstill in today's abbreviated session. There was no trend and price changes in practically every case were fractional.

The tape barely moved and many of the usual leaders failed to open until late and some not at all. Bethlehem Steel did not sell in the first hour.

Among the few issues to show any marked change were Allied Chemical, of a point and Dome Mines up almost a point.

Minor fractional gains were scored by U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, International Nickel, Texas Co., N. Y. Central, Air Reduction and Engineers Public Service.

Equally unimportant losses were sustained by Standard Oil of Calif., American Telephone, United Aircraft, Westinghouse Electric and Industrial Reven, Crucible Steel, Sears Roebuck, General Electric.

Childs Co. quieted down considerably after its recent gyrations and ruled about unchanged.

Bonds were dull and little changed. The curb market also was quiet.

Bronze Employees To Picnic Sept. 4

Cascade Park To Be Scene Of "J. B." Picnic, Elaborate Program Planned

Cascade Park will look like the old time picnic days on Saturday, September 4th, when the Johnson Bronze Company employees will hold a picnic which will be (quoting one of the boys in the rabbit shop) "a picnic as is a picnic."

For the afternoon of September 4th the bronze workers will forget for a little while bushings and bearings, close tolerances and foundry methods and take their hair down for a get together that should stand out as the number one affair of all the ones ever held.

Plenty To Eat
From a glance at the list of victuals which will be on hand, the exact information being a military secret as yet, no one will go away hungry or thirsty. Hot dogs, roast corn, coffee and other knick knacks and all free.

From 2:30 to 5 in the afternoon there will be free dancing in the pavilion and a sport program has been prepared that has the whole outfit practicing in their cellars every night in preparation. For entertainment the committee has such luminaries as the Keystone Quartet, Russ Graham, Geirgine Mannick, Benny Richardson, Margie and Nilo Black, Betty Curry and Joe Caprone lined up. And over the entertainment will be the suave gentleman known as Irish McCarthy, christened Harold if you must know, acting as master of ceremonies.

It promises to be quite an affair if you want to take bird's eye view of it from this distance. The average bronze worker would no more think of missing it than he would think of missing his lunch. And the boys can really eat.

Hints On Etiquette

With fruit and vegetables so precious these days, the housewife should be careful when marketing not to handle any of the foods carelessly. The old saying, "Lady if you must pinch the fruit, pinch the cucumber," is still good in marketing etiquette.

OATS

The oats plant appear to be able to gather a lot of good things from soil and sunshine.
Our bodies need protein and fat and starch and phosphorus and iron and vitamins. These things are provided in abundance by oats.
In oat meal or rolled oats there is a larger percentage of fat than there is in milk. There is a larger percentage of protein than there is in meat.

When rolled oats are eaten with sugar and milk, the combination is fine.

The cost of oats is very moderate too.
A rolled oats breakfast supplies a large number of necessary things. They are very easily digested. They satisfy the appetite. They stay with you a long time. They are economical. Eat lots of rolled oats and milk.

New York Policemen In Disguise Follow Ponies From Jersey

(International News Service)

NEWARK, Aug. 28.—It appeared today that the only things missing were the false whiskers and maybe a meat cleaver for atmosphere when two New York cops attempted to play Sherlock Holmes in the grand manner.
Nabbed as suspicious characters after shadowing a truck-load of horsemeat to a New Jersey meat dealer, realistically named "The Whirlaway Meat Market" the two gents identified themselves only as (A) "A Butcher" and (B) "Unemployed."

At police headquarters shields and identification papers showed them to be John Camio and George Backhold of the New York police force.

Rescued by fellow members of the New York force, Camio and Backhold said they were detailed to shadow the truck to see if they could learn how New Jersey horsemeat was finding its way into New York. The impromptu—and unlucky—disguises had been their own idea, they said.

Clock-watching is despised by Russian workers. "Our men," they say, "don't fight by the clock."

Number Of Polio Cases Far Below Normal In State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 28.—While infantile paralysis is spreading in midwestern states, the number of cases reported this year in Pennsylvania is far below normal, Deputy Secretary of Health J. Moore Campbell asserted today.

"Only four cases were reported last week, bringing the total this year to approximately 35," he said. "We might reach the neighborhood of 100 cases yet this year but as things go now we're not even going to touch normal."

Dr. Campbell explained that the average number of cases a year ranges from 150 to 200 in Pennsylvania. "Most of our years are low years," he added. "Since 1910 we haven't had more than four serious epidemics."

The most recent was in 1941 when there were 900 cases, he explained. The worst epidemic occurred in 1916 when approximately 2100 persons were stricken.

Mr. Malmer was appointed general manager of Penn-Ohio Coach Lines January 30, 1942. For four years prior to that he had been traffic director of Penn-Ohio Coach Lines Company, The Youngstown Municipal Railway Company, Akron Transportation Company and Shenango Valley Transportation Company.

Convention To Be Held Oct. 12-14

The 81st convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association will be held at Juniata College, Huntingdon, starting Tuesday evening, October 12, and continuing through Wednesday, October 13, and Thursday, October 14.
Plans are being made for the usual good delegation from Lawrence county, and quotas have been given the various districts. The convention program this year will be an out-standing one, containing the names of nationally known Christian leaders.
It is thought that sufficient transportation can be arranged for the delegates at the usual moderate cost, and those planning to attend who have room for other delegates, are to call County Sunday School Headquarters, phone 351.

It takes only good will, absence of fear and love of peace to avoid war. Look at Canada and the U. S.

APPEAL MERCHANT TAX ASSESSMENT

Petition has been filed with Prothonotary John A. Edgar, by the Rieck-McJunkin Dairy Company, appealing from the decision of city council as to the merchant tax assessment for the year 1943.
The company contends that they have been assessed $100 as a wholesaler and $89.56 as a retailer. The complainant company asserts that the charge is excessive, that they should not be assessed more than $100, that the additional charge is illegal and unwarranted.

THREE ARE SENTENCED
Judge W. Walter Brahm, sitting in sentence court on Friday, handed down three sentences.

In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Beniah Alberta Hill, aged 20 years, charged jointly with Philip Ross Hill, aged 28 years, her husband; and Calvin James Hill, a brother-in-law, aged 18 years, of R. F. D. No. 4, Warren, O., of burglary, the court sentenced her to serve not less than one year nor more than two years in the state industrial home for women at Muncie, Pa. Mrs. Hill later asked the court if she could not serve the term in the county jail instead, but the court refused to change its original sentence.

She pleaded guilty to being an accessory in the theft of a three-months old Holstein heifer, valued at $175, from the farm of Andrew Lukoc, of Pulaski township, and to the theft of gasoline from the farm property of Norman Perschke, of R. F. D. No. 6.

Her husband is being held by Ohio authorities for suspected theft, while her brother-in-law is being held in the county jail here.

In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Mike Casaccia, charged with establishing a gambling house, a fine of $200 and costs was imposed. Charles Russell Sankey, was fined $100 and costs and ordered to make restitution for damages in the amount of $50, and undergo imprisonment in the county jail for 30 days on charge of driving while intoxicated. Provision was made for his release in three days on payment of the fine and costs.
